Welcome to The Daily Office Project

This is a project for anyone else seeking a deeper, more ancient, rhythmic, and stable spiritual life. It's a simple plan to stay in communion with God by daily savoring his word in the pattern of the story of Jesus told by the historic Christian Year. It's not about gurus publishing thoughts, "adding" value to the Bible, or monetizing a Christian lifestyle. It's about slowing down, breathing, unplugging, uncluttering our souls, and encountering the God with new mercies day after day together.

Here's how it works. Each day, five text selections from the Bible are offered: Wisdom, History, Prose & Prophets, New Testament, and Psalms. These meditations may be read on their own (for deeper reflection) or with each chapter as a whole (for comprehensive Bible reading). Then we gather in regular Christian friendship to walk through what God is revealing, and we take the adventure that comes to us. That's it!

Oh, taste and see that the Lord is good! Blessed is the man who takes refuge in him! Psalm 34:8

If you know the Bible, you know it is no ordinary book. It is supernatural. 66 books by nearly 50 authors across millennia tell a single story that when read and believed becomes our own story. It's the story of a God who would and did give up everything to save us. It's all yours, every day. Come, taste and see.

Frequently Asked Questions

Why multiple readings? How are they determined?

I think it's good to have a balanced diet of Scriptures rather than months at a time in history, Paul, etc. Various larger chapters are divided up. Psalms, Paul, and Hebrews are offered twice. Hallelujah, Sabbath, and Ascent Psalms are offered on Sundays. NT passages follow the Christian Year. Wisdom and Prose & Prophets are offset year-over-year to "fold" Scripture into new combinations of offerings.

Why these meditations?

I tried to choose self-contained passages nearest the 'heart' of the chapter suited to deeper reflection. I looked for length, connection to wider context, applicability to daily life, striking language, etc. There are many more things worth our attention in Scripture than the 1,800 I have assembled here. My hope is that these passages form for us a Bible map, opening to us the rest of the Scriptures by yearly remembrance.

How does the Christian Year work?

I simplified the broad consensus to celebrate Christ and not the Saints. His approach (Advent), birth (Christmas), life & ministry (Epiphany), death (Lent), resurrection & ascension (Easter), mission (Pentecost), and return (Ordinary Time & Advent) are the focus. These mostly keep with the universally recognized dates. 5-6 "Ember days" are added for rest and prayer, marking the changing of seasons.

Why no explanations of the texts?

I want a Bible reading plan that: 1) is decidedly not content-driven, 2) promotes long-haul, stable discipleship in community, 3) takes a lifetime to walk through, not a lifetime to prepare. Just getting this far took me a few years; imagine waiting for my whole-Bible commentary! My conviction is we simply need to hear what God has to say, and my hope is to find the greater fullness of his meaning together.

How do I use this plan?

There are many ways to hold this plan. Comprehensive reading (full chapters) or deeper reflection (meditations only). All five readings (full Bible) or only certain ones. Personally, I use all five meditations to keep the Bible deep and fresh in my thoughts privately, and I use New Testament and Psalms in family devotions with my young family. There's some spiritual advice on the back of this devotional guide.

Advice From a Spiritual Fellow-Traveler

Let yesterday's readings go and do not give yourself homework. God isn't keeping score; don't you.

Turn each reading into a prayer moment. Encounter God as Teacher (Wisdom), Creator and Covenant Lord (History), Passionate Truthsayer (Prose & Prophets), Incarnate Redeemer (New Testament), and Intimate Spirit (Psalms).

When it comes to mountain-top experiences, remember God more often sends whispers than firestorms.

Build a real-life habitat for devotion--a physical Bible with ribbon bookmarks and a quiet place help.

Test thoughts and spirits by Christ and the wisdom of many. Talk to your pastor and church friends.

Having no devotional motions is far worse than 'just' going through them. Keep showing up.

Be aware of what you carry into God's presence. Cast your cares on him as you draw near.

At a total loss? Ask... What [noun]? Why [verb]? Who's [name]? Curiosity is the friend of piety.

We're not the first people to know God! See their published works, especially time-tested confessions.

The truths we defend most zealously are the ones that took us longest to learn. Remember that in group.

Try reading out loud (c.f. Rom 10:17), letting the words wash over you.

Try repeating the passages from memory silently to yourself after each reading.
